Description:

The very basic typology of the Magis's Theca sideboard can be found in all forms, from different eras dating back to the 18th century and with a great appearance in mid century's Scandinavian design. The body (frame) of the sideboard is composed of stamped aluminium plate sides and shelves in solid wood or in veneered MDF, the back and the sliding doors are made of (cut and bent) aluminium plate. Two tones are available for the anodized finish of the aluminium parts – black or natural. The shelves come in European cherry in black stained ash or in walnut.
